NEW FIND 9th KNOWN RARE DOT CENT VALUED UP TO $2,000.

When the new George VI dies were not ready in 1937, a dot was placed on the 1936 dies. It is believed that the dot on the die filled up causing most of the issue to be minted without the valuable dot. What ever the theory, the coin is a much desired piece, and the rarest in Canadian coinage,...Your editor is the proud owner of the above coin.

RARE CANADIAN DIME

In reference to our September issue in asking our readers for all possible bits of information concerning the Canadian round top 3 dime to be sent to us, and from talking to collectors who have had, or have in their possession this rare coin. There are only nine known and of these we were able to account for only six in the hands of collectors as follows:

Amon Carter, Jr. of Texas; Tom Wass, of New York—Dealer; Mr. John Pittman, of New York—Collector and president of Mana; Mrs. Jack Marles of Canada—Dealer; Nicholas Salimbene, New Jersey— collector; Mr. Clinton B. Vanderbilt of Upper Montclair, New Jersey—Collector and Dealer. There may be a few more, but we can only account for the above. We do know that there is one somewhere in Maine. Speaking to Mr. John Pittman, who has in his collection a complete set of the Decimal. He told us that he has yet to hear, let alone see, an uncirculated round top three. The best one that he knows of is one in XF condition. Every dime that we have checked showed a weak three, some being stronger than others, but in the respect to the other three numbers, the three was weak in comparison. Mr. Pittman offered the theory that the dime was struck weak on the right side of the reverse causing the dime to wear more so on that side than on the rest of the dime. I myself have had two in my possession, the one I have now would rate fair, but the other one graded fine plus. Even on the fine coin, the three was very weak. The best one I have yet to see, and I have seen a total of four pieces. I would venture that this dime should be rated not on the over-all of the coin itself, but should be graded by the strength of the three. The round top three dime that is illustrated in "Standard Catalogue of Canadian coins, tokens and paper money," by Mr. J. E. Charlton is the one owned by Mr. John Pittman. The coin is selling above catalogue and should be a nice coin to have for furture market.

A WORD TO THE WISE!

We have watched the advance in price of Jefferson Nickels for some time. At the present time some dealers are asking $3250.00 for a roll set which amounts to $81.25 per single set, wholesale. As recently as 1955 we sold Jefferson Nickel sets for $16.00 per set and at that time advised collectors that they would be an excellent investment. They still are, in view of the fact that certain scarce issues are still climbing in price such as the 1950-D, 1951-S, 1952-D. The 1939-D alone we have seen advertised at $45.00. The sets offered here for sale are guaranteed UNCIRCULATED. The coins are delivered just as they came from the original rolls, not dipped, cleaned or polished. We have for sale 48 sets on a first come, first served basis. We will deliver only one set to a customer since our supply is limited and we would like to have as many people as possible get one set each. Our price for the set, 1938 through 1959, $88.00.

FROM YOUR EDITOR'S DESK

You will note our name has changed, again, to Coin Press. This was done to keep peace and harmony among our hobby. In reference to the recent editorial of the Numismatic News that Coin News was confusing to the readers, we were assured by our attorneys there was no infringement and we could use the name. Our interests are for the good of the hobby and good relations with others. The reason for our changing the name was to acquaint others who collect but do not subscribe to any publication. The name itself would imply the type of hobby without a doubt. We have in the past 6 months sold our issues by newsstands, plus spending some $200.00 monthly with our ads in daily key newspapers and magazines throughout the country for subscriptions and sample copies. In other words, we aim to build our circulation to greater heights via new collectors. This will benefit and build our ever popular hobby. There are many collectors and dealers who are now subscribing to 3 or 4 publications or they don't have time to read another, so we must strive on to newer fields. I will say this in sincerety to collectors and dealers, every support you give us in subscriptions or ads benefits the hobby and strengthens your investment; it will also help us to do added research for a more interesting field. The amount of support you give us will determine the amount of security you will have for the future. Support us now and you will be building a better hobby for tomorrow.

At the recent Atlantic City Convention, I was called upon by one of our readers whom I'm very familiar with to verify or endorse purchase as it amounted to $1,200.00. This reader had only $500.00 in cash and a personal check made out for $700.00. I asked the dealer whom I've never met if he advertised with us. I asked this question only to establish identification to back up the check. The reply I got verifies the above. "I don't advertise in your magazine or any other paper, I am doing all right without them." With this I replied, "In that case you'll have to get someone else to affirm this sale." Whether this dealer ever sold these coins I couldn't say, but the point I am trying to bring out is that if it weren't for these publications that carry the news of the conventions to readers from all parts, there would not be many buyers at his table. The fact that we have crowds at conventions is not pure chance, it's through advertising and publicity, without these you can cut your sales in half. It was folly for this dealer to think he could survive without advertising. Take your local newspapers out of circulation and your community will have a disastrous economy.

There was one very important item which the Mana convention committee left out of their convention program and that was . . . Be sure to bring along life preservers . . . Boy! Did it rain, ask anyone who drove down to Atlantic City on Saturday the 24th. We bucked head winds, fog and you name it.

It would be a crime to call it anything less than a storm. We left Newark at 7:30 A.M., stopping once for breakfast, we arrived at 10:45 A.M. tired and soaked.

In spite of the weather the trip was worth it. The Middle Atlantic Numismatic Association, Mana, held their seventh annual convention at the beautiful Claridge Hotel on October 23rd, 24th and 25th. This I believe is one of the largest buildings in Atlantic City, I say believe, because with the hanging fog, I could see no other building at that height.

Once inside the hotel things brightened up considerably, what with all the activity, people and the general warmth of the building it put us in a good spirit as we went to the registration desk to register.

As we went into the Bourse Room, the first exhibit caught my eye. This display of mechanical banks always pleases me to view. Maybe because it is associated so close to money that I feel it has a very important part in the numismatic hobby. As the name implies, when a coin is dropped into or placed somewhere on the banks something moves and an action is caused. This action fascinates me so that I could watch them for hours . . . bears popping up, baseball player missing his swing of a pitched penny, clowns dancing, mules kicking, I could go on and on. If you have never seen these banks you are really missing something which I believe is part of old American history and genuinely deserves its part as such. The above collection belongs to Mr. Albert Shea of Woodstown, N. J. and was displayed by Mr. Harmer Cole, due to the illness of Mr. Shea. I would like to say to Mr. Shea; Mr. Cole did your collection high honors in the patience and skill employed in working and explaining to the never ending crowd who were always present to view this wonderful display.

All the exhibits were deserving of a mentioning, but I would like to mention, and I don't mean this as any reflection of the judges who did a very fine job, but the exhibit that I liked best in the show was Mr. Harold Shorenstein's display of U. S. currency. Not so much in the bills themselves, but in the clever way he devised to display them. They were mounted on a revolving stand, and every denomination and series up to one hundred dollars was shown and described on a beautiful engraved card made to Mr. Shorenstein's own personal specification. He also had on display the rarest error you can find in paper money collecting; a double denomination note, a fifteen dollar bill, ten dollars on the obverse and five dollars on the reverse—Series 1934. Most intresting about this exhibit was that the bill was mounted on an automatic turntable which moved in a mysterious figure eight motion. Everyone viewing this rare bill was more fascinated by the movement of the turntable. Mr. Shorenstein spent more time in explaining the working of the table than he did explaining his rare error.

The best in show was won by Mr. G. Moose who also won first place in U. S. Currency, followed by Mr. Shorenstein for second and Mr. William T. Anton, placing third. U. S. coins, 1st, Mr. Geo. D. Hattie; 2nd, Mr. Asher Leatherman; 3rd, Mr. Bernard D. Littlepage. Ancient—1st, Mr. Michel Granis; 2nd, Mr. Geo. D. Hattie; 3rd, Mr. Paul S. Szego. Foreign—1st, E. Ward Russell; 2nd, Gaston Di Bello; 3rd, F. C. Schneidek. Misc.—1st, Dr. C. A. Bolt; 2nd, Gaston Di Bello; 3rd, Ronald Shepherd. Confederate, Shirley Leachmann and club, The Philadelphia Coin Club.

Mr. Jos. E. Eiselwin, general chairman, Mr. Paul D. Gerber, Co-chairman and the committee in general did a terrific job as anyone attending the convention will be sure to state. If any reader has not had the pleasure of serving on a convention committee, you will never visualize the work that must be put into it to insure the success of any convention. The law of success is measured by the old but true quote, "You can only get out what you put in." So strike up another successful convention for Mana in 1960.

INTRODUCTION TO MEDAL COLLECTING

Medal Collector's Corner

by Stanley Bright

By way of personal introduction, I am 26, a graduate of Rutgers University and a veteran of the United States Air Force in which I served as a Fighter Squadron Officer in Germany and Holland. Currently, I am employed as a merchandising representative for a New York food brokerage firm.

Recently, I approached Frank Spadone, your editor, and suggested that a column about medals and decorations be included in forthcoming issues of Coin News. Medals and decorations are closely related to coins and indeed, many coin collectors are also medal enthusiasts. Mr. Spadone agreed to test the idea and hopes that the column will be of service to the many medal collectors everywhere. I am an ardent medal collector myself; having entered the field eight years ago. Indeed, I feel very strongly about the hobby and feel equally strongly about the need for more information and exchange of ideas about it. My own experience has taken me to most of the medal centers of the U. S. and Europe (travel by courtesy of Uncle Sam) and I can safely say that medals and decorations provide great opportunities for fascination and profit all over the world. Therefore, this is the kickoff of what we hope will be a long series of informative articles on the subject of military medals and decorations.

I think it would be appropriate in this first article to mention some basic facts and pointers about medal collecting itself, i.e., what and how to collect and how to maintain and store your collection. To begin with, having decided to start a collection, one must proceed with a definite plan. This hobby, like coins or any other, can become unnecessarily expensive if you don't adopt basic objectives as guides. Most beginners in coins and medals start by acquiring all and sundry and subsequently specialize after realizing the folly of an unorganized collection. An unorganized collection is very difficult to develop and eventually loses interest through excessive diversity.

As to specific methods of collecting, there are many, but here are three which I would say are the most fundamental. First, you can collect by countries, secondly, you can collect by period and thirdly, you can collect by subject. For example, you might wish to collect the medals and decorations of the U. S., the British Empire, etc. of all periods or you may choose to collect the medals of several countries which were issued during a specific war or campaign. Many collectors specialize in certain regiments or units. The method is up to you, but I urge you to adopt some method or else be prepared to throw your money away on a hopelessly large collection which may eventually bore you. Many collectors of coins and medals have given up in utter disappointment for failure to properly organize their collections.

The maintenance of your collection can be accomplished in a variety of ways, but it must have one main purpose; to preserve your pieces in the best condition for as long as possible. Therefore, the cleaning and storing of medals must be done with the greatest of care. Many decorations are delicate and require delicate cleaning techniques instead of elbow grease. There are various techniques and tools to be used with each type of medal or decoration. Therefore, you must investigate the field of suitable cleaning agents and tools for the various metals and elements of which your medals consist. I might add that any established coin dealer or jeweler will gladly give you pointers on how to avoid damage while cleaning.

The storage and housing of your collection depends upon two major factors: space and finance. If you have your own hobby den or other ample space you can do big things. The amount of money at your disposal will determine how elaborately you utilize your space. Of course, if you are handy with saw, hammer and brush, your costs will be reduced somewhat. Various methods of display exist and only you can best judge what is required for your own particular needs. In general, the most desirable arrangement is one whereby your collection is displayed under glass in floor or wall type cabinets. The pieces themselves may be displayed horizontally, vertically or even at an angle. Where space is limited you can employ smaller cabinets with sliding trays of the type used by jewelry firms. There are also the considerations of background and lighting. Background material should be of a texture and color so as to best display your collection. Many people prefer velvet in various colors such as black, blue or red. However, I am of the opinion that soft yellow is the best overall background color. It is the least distracting and supports almost any ribbon or medal color. Proper lighting arrangements are vital to a handsome display. A lighting system mounted within the cabinets is the most desirable. All arrangements are useless unless you give your pieces adequate individual space. Enameled pieces should be placed so that they derive full benefit from your lighting system. Important pieces can be emphasized by giving them more space than those of lesser note. Here too, many methods exist, but before you choose your own method of housing and display, make sure you plan ahead. Look before you leap otherwise you may spend considerable time, effort and expense on an arrangement that is unsuitable. Experienc will teach you what is best, but a little pre-planning will save you a lot of money and chagrin.

ROCKATOMICS COIN CLUB

We have organized a new club called "Rockatomics Coin Club." We meet at the North American Recreation Center in Canoga Park, California, fourth Monday of the month, 7:30 P.M. We are a private club due to space facilities as of now. But we do hope that will change.

Officers:

President .....Andrew Callahan
Vice-President .....Jesse Rumpf
Secretary .....Marjorie Pulliam
Treasurer .....Milton Clemens

VECTURES ANONYMOUS OF NEW ENGLAND

In conjunction with and sanctioned by, The American Vecturist Association of Boston, Mass, it has been suggested we form a local Token Club. As A.V.A. is a worldwide association, personal member contact is only had by an annual convention, whereas by a local club members could get together at least once a month. Those interested contact F. Gordon Smith, 14 Miller Stile Rd., Quincy 69, Mass.

THE SOUTH WARD BOYS' COIN AND STAMP CLUB

The South Ward Boys' Coin and Stamp Club were guests of Jack Nannery at the Newark Coin Convention held Saturday, September 12, at the Newark "Y."

Mr. Nannery took the boys on a tour of all the booths and his big topic was the popular 1955 double die shift cent which he showed to the boys. After the lecture he distributed the Coin Press magazine to all the boys.

Dave Warner, president of the South Ward Boys' Club, Abe Fisher and Morris Pollac, advisor of the coins were also on hand to supervise the boys.

The club meets every Sunday at 2:00 P.M. at the South Ward Boys' headquarters, 400 Hawthorne Ave., Newark, N. J.

THE FARRAN ZERBE AWARD

The above photo shows Mr. Louis S. Werner receiving the "Farran Zerbe Memorial Award" from the president of the A.N.A., Rear Admiral O. H. Dodson. This award is presented each year to a member of the association for distinguished service in the American Numismatic Association. In the center of the photo is Mr. Lewis M. Reagan, Gen. Secretary of the A.N.A. The above presentation was at the A.N.A. Convention held at Portland, Oregon.

Mr. Werner was the founder of the above award. It is presented in the memory of Mr. Farran Zerbe, one of the greatest American numismatists. Mr. Zerbe was a long and devoted personal friend of Mr. Werner.

Other former receivers of this distinguished plaque in past years were: 1951 when the first plaque was presented, M. Vernon Sheldon; 1952, Mrs. June Pond; 1953, Joseph Moss; 1954, Mr. Lewis M. Reagan; 1955, J. Hewitt Judd; 1956, Richard S. Yeoman; 1958, Burton H. Saxton.

THE HEART OF AMERICA NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION

The Heart of America Numismatic Association, the Kansas City Numismatic Society and the Topeka Coin Club are planning an event for the general public here in Kansas City, Nov. 28-29. Hotel Muehlebach, will be the location, and those who attended the great Central States Convention here in April will remember what a wonderful place for such a show.

There will be available about 16 bourse tables and those interested may write to the general chairman, Mr. Harold Eissinger, 3570 Meadow Lane, Hickman Mills, Missouri. Price is only $10.00 per table for the two days.

With some of the finest collections in the nation located in this area I'm sure we will have one of the greatest shows of this type ever held in the midwest.

Ray Lefman, Pres., H.A.N.A.

To conclude this brief resume of pointers, I would urge beginners and veterans alike to procure as many good reference books as possible about his particular field of interest. Although some of these books are very rare and expensive, most of them are available at low cost and will give you detailed information about what exists in the field. Personally, I feel that no collection is complete without a supplementary collection of reference material. I have often been surprised to find collectors who know very little about their fields and even about the pieces in their own collections.

However you decide to develop your collection, we at Coin News would like to hear from you and are at your service in regard to any questions you may have about the hobby. If we don't have the info right at hand, then we'll do everything possible to get it for you.

Next month, Medal Collector's Corner will present a resume of some of the most familiar service medals of World War II. I'm sure collectors and ex-GI's alike will recognize the good conduct medal and the various theater ribbons and medals.

QUESTION

Will the 1884 Trade Dollar soon cost $10,000.00?
Will the 1880 Newfoundland $2.00 Gold soon cost $1,000.00?
Will the 1879 Flowing Hair $4.00 Gold soon cost $3,500.00?

Well, I can't give the exact answer to all the above Questions, but I can say this. I am very interested in Broken Bank Bills in Sheets and also single Notes of Virginia such as Broken Bank Notes, County Notes, City Notes, etc. Contact me promptly on anything you have.

The following are good buys and remittance with order on these with full refund within 3 days if not satisfied. M.O. or C.C.

INTERNATIONAL MONEY

by Starr Gilmore

Our venture in the field of international money centres on the trade dollars. Although they seem to have no great popularity, they are yet very interesting coins and no doubt deserve more attention than they have received. We went into the field of trade dollars for several reasons which will be given consideration.

Coinage of these pieces began with 1873 and came to an end in 1878. Three mints were responsible for issue: Philadelphia, Carson City, and San Francisco. Each mint coined trade dollars for six years and we are told that they came into being as a means of competing with the Mexican peso in the Orient.

One oddity about the pieces is the fact that they are not quite the same weight as our standard dollars. Their fineness of 900 is the same but the weight of 420 grains is more than the 412.5 of our home circulated coins. There would seem to be no good and compelling reason for the difference unless it might be that 420 grains happened to be the weight of the Mexican peso of that time. If true, then the change of weight would make sense inasmuch as we would hardly wish to put out a coin of smaller size which would be unable to offer effective competition.

Dollar figures for the three mints are as follows: Philadelphia, 5,100,960 Carson City, 4,211,400 and San Francisco, 26,647,000. The total of the three figures is 35,959,360. When the amount of silver which we had on hand at that time is considered, then it must be admitted that the figure is not too impressive. But there can be no doubt that our trade dollars made themselves felt in the Orient. And although it is probably true that they still circulate in some degree, the circulation must be exceedingly small.

United States commercial interests of that day were more or less concerned about getting at least a reasonable share of Oriental trade and the expedient of trade dollars seemed a very good device. All nations of the Orient are partial to silver and we had a huge supply of the metal. Congress, bedeviled by a number of problems, paid heed to loud complaints of silver interesets, and tried by means of the bimetallic standard to balance silver and gold by a ratio of 16 to 1. Swifty enough came the evidence that it would never work and thereupon silver was hastily declared persona non grata in the so called crime of 1873. But demonetizing silver did not solve the problem of the surplus that was on hand. Partly to placate the infuriated West, and partly because it was simply good sense, we put out the trade dollars in the not unreasonable hope that they would do us some good abroad and also help in a reduction of the surplus.

That they did accomplish something is evidenced in the fact that England also found it expedient to do the same thing. How well her trade dollars succeeded is questionable although it is certain that she would find the going a good bit rougher. For one thing, having no mines, she had to buy all her silver at a higher rate.

Our resources in the Comstock Lode enabled us to furnish Japan with the first silver used for coinage in the Imperial Mint. And in the earlier days of the Comstock, we shipped the best of our silver ore to England for smelting and refinement. Of course, this situation did not last very long because it was too expensive.

Hong Kong has already been an international money centre of sorts and our trade dollars were used there in considerable amount. To Hong Kong, silver is silver. provided it is good, and the country of origin matters not in the least. A short time since a Hawaiian correspondent of mine in Honolulu was given a Canadian silver dollar which had been picked up in that city by a sailor.

Some collectors set store by the chop marks which appear on trade dollars that have been circulated in China. Although I am not overly fond of chop marks, there is nevertheless something to be said for coins having them. Certainly enough, it is the best of evidence that such pieces have seen service in the Orient.

Any collector who wishes to do so can get together an interesting collection of international money at relatively small cost. One coin that would naturally be included would be the Maria Theresa thaler. These pieces are still popular in the Red Sea area and fully half of the coins that circulate in Yemen are of this kind. Arabians prefer solid silver pieces of large size and have no objection whatever to their weight.

Spanish pieces of eight have had a notable history in the field of international money and the service that they have rendered in world trade is impossible to estimate. They certainly did much for us in our early days and the same is true of Canada. They could hardly be called handsome coins but they were honest ones and were everywhere recognized as such.

An acquaintance of mine who is employed in a tobacco shop recently asked me to identify a coin which eight years ago had been given him as a dollar. I told him that it was a Spanish piece of eight and one of the best that I had ever seen. Its date was 1769 and it was minted in Mexico City, the familiar "MO" being on it, and its catalogue value of $17.00 made it something of a bargain. More than a few would have turned the piece down but he happened to have some knowledge of money.

Gold Coins Add Distinction to Any Collection

Our present day silver situation is in violent contrast to the era which our trade dollars flourishing in the Far East. Far from being able to export silver, we now import the metal. India sent us recently 210,000,000 ounces of free silver in the form of rupees which contained copper, lead, and nickel. Silver production in the United States does not even keep up with the coinage need. For example, we used 36,000,000 ounces for coins last year and the Government was offered only 20,000,000 by domestic producers. This information was recently published in a local paper.

From the present look of things, the situation will get worse before it gets better. We have always taken it for granted that there would never be any lack of silver for coins. Too many people forget that silver is tremendously important in the arts and industry and needs of this kind must also be met.

It would indeed be ironical if the United States should finally be forced into the position of utilizing the silver dollars which we have on hand and which fail to circulate largely because so many people refuse to use them. But even if this did happen, the 35,000,000 in the Denver Mint would not go very far and nobody supposes that they would ever be replaced. And whereas this might please some, there are quite a few who would be anything but pleased.

Our greatest single source of silver, the Sunshine, is a mine not far from Spokane in the Coeur d'Alenes. Strange to relate, it is losing money, a fact of which I have been apprised by Robert Hardy, President of the Sunshine Mining Company. And if this happens to the best we have, then we must suppose the worst of others.

Odd things go on in the world. As far as we know, the trade dollars we sent abroad were used for years as a circulating medium and no one complained of them. And there was a time in our own country when this was true. The banks in Seattle and Spokane, to say nothing of other places, have great quantities of silver dollars which go begging and are hardly used. Money of this kind has little more of value than the gold buried at Fort Knox. And yet Washington used to be one of the states where dollars were popular and found something better to do than to spend time in banks.

Visitors to Montana are nearly always struck by the fact that the use of silver dollars is almost universal and that in some places it is hardly possible to get one of paper. And of course, Nevada, maintains at least some of her ancient allegiance to silver. It seems something of a pity that the big coins have become little better than museum pieces.

BOOK REVIEW

"1960 Standard Catalogue of Canadian Coins, Tokens and Paper Money, Fully Illustrated, 1670 to Date" b J. E. Charlton, 128 pp., Whitman Publishing Co., Racine, Wisc. New format (7½ x 5 in.) with soil-resistant hard cover.

To hundreds of collectors of Canadian coins and tokens, the yearly appearance of a "new Charlton catalogue" has become a time for "taking stock." Canada's buoyant economy, her expanding numismatic market, and the greatly increased numbers interested in Canadian and Newfoundland currency series, assure that such a mental "totalling of assets" should not be an unpleasant task. Mr. Charlton has doubly assured this by producing a reference the publication of which may come to be looked upon as a milestone in Canadian numismatics comparable to the appearance of a Canadian Numismatic Journal in printed form (1956) and of the original "Standard Catalogue," in far more modest format, in 1952. The new catalogue incorporates the material included in the author's previous catalogues of Canadian coinage and tokens and of Canadian and Newfoundland paper money, adding a number of new features which should prove of definite value.

Aside from the more substantial hard-cover format, the first modification to catch the eye—and win the applause—of the reviewer would be the great improvement in the quality and the number of the illustrations. Mr. Charlton explains that a letter press has been used, and new plates, in an effort to obtain greater sharpness. Enlarged illustrations will do much to clear up misunderstanding concerning varieties of such popular pieces as the three 1880 Newfoundland cents, the Canadian 10 cent coins of 1886, 1891, 1893, 1909 and 1913 and the 50 cents of 1946, 1947, 1949, 1950 and 1953, including die varieties which Mr. Charlton had not catalogued before. Another extremely welcome modification is the reassembling of data, so that mint statistics, prices and illustrations normally are to be found on the same page. (Material is well indexed, and appropriate page titles make leafing through the book a simple task.) Collectors, both new and exeprienced, will welcome the photographs depicting four standards of grading, with reference to Canadian 25 cents coins of four reigns.

While there can be no doubt that Mr. Charlton, as a successful Toronto dealer and coin auctioneer, is as familiar as anyone with the Canadian numismatic market, it is to his credit that his catalogues, through the years, have augmented his own knowledge with the experience and suggestions of many of the country's best-known numismatists. The individual commentaries, which greatly enhance the section on Canadian and Newfoundland tokens, for example, suggest the work of Robert Willey. The first full treatment of the complex issues of Newfoundland Government Cash Notes draws on research published in the Canadian Numismatic Journal. An eight-page Foreward offers background information on the numismatic series and the hobby—which should prove a welcome innovation for the many newcomers to numismatic ranks.

The catalogue encompasses the token and coinage series of Canada and Newfoundland, including the French regime, enlarged to include "playing card" releases, and the provincial issues prior to Confederation. The Prince Edward Island "holey dollar" and plug will be found among the illustrations for the first time. The paper money primarily is the government material of the Dominion of Canada and the Government of Newfoundland, and the Canadian central bank, The Bank of Canada. The paper money illustrations should be adequate to identify the series and principal types.

HAROLD DON ALLEN

NUMISMATIC EXPERIENCES

by Earl A. McBrayer

Recently I was trying to read a nearly obliterated inscription on a Roman coin just acquired in a trade. The door bell rang and I sighed and put down the magnifying glass we "elderly" numismatists find so valuable a tool while pursuing our pastime. Who is here with a bill for what, I wondered. Thankfully I let in an old friend who has been an ardent collector since his conversion to numismatics in my basement two years ago.

"Hi, Sandy," I said. "I hate you," was his cheerful reply. "Good gosh, what did I do now?" was my protest. "I hate you because I bought a 1912-S cent in fine condition for ten cents today," he mournfully told me.

"I'm lost," was my feeble rejoinder, "let's start over again." "I hate you," Sandy restated. "Now wait a minute, we've been through that once," I protested.

"I hate you because I bought a 1912-S cent in fine condition, and while I was out in the hall making the purchase from a fellow who brought it to work I lost two hours and twenty-seven minutes of very valuable and difficult work, and it's all your fault," Sandy woefully mumbled.

"Now wait a minute," I said, "I'll admit I got you started into coin collecting, and I'm probably to blame for teaching you that a 1912-S cent in fine condition is worth a heck of a lot more than ten cents, but what have I got to do with your lack of sense in taking two hours and twenty-seven minutes to make the purchase?"

"Oh," Sandy choked, "it didn't take two hours and twenty-seven minutes to make the purchase. I work on the twelfth floor making drawings of land purchases. While I was spending five minutes to buy the coin a gust of wind came along and blew all my drawings out the open window and I had to stay overtime with no pay and replace them all. It took two hours and twenty-seven minutes," he unnecessarily added. "So you see, Mac, it's all your fault. If I hadn't met you, and you hadn't gotten me interested, and I hadn't stepped out in the hall and bought the coin, I wouldn't have been working overtime and my wife wouldn't be sore at me because she thinks I stopped in at the bar to give me added strength after working all that overtime (which I did)." He sighed and concluded with, "Now I could use another quick one before I return home from the grocery to face her again!"

One certainly meets a lot of unusual situations when he or she becomes involved with coins and coin collecting!

Have you ever sorted through a pile of so called "junk" and wondered what a particular frank, shilling, mark, lira or other foreign coin may be worth? Well for the benifit of exchange values, listed below are the major countries exchange rates. I must add, the list below is a close accurate scale, can vary slightly, and can change as fast as yesterdays weather. We would like to hear your comments, let us know what you think of this idea.
This rate will be a regular standard monthly feature along with our mint report.

BUYING UNCIRCULATED ROLLS, BAGS, and PROOF SETS

It has become increasingly difficult for us to advertise our stock of the above, as it takes approximately 30 days to get our advertised prices before the public. In many instances several items which we attempt to advertise are sold out before the ad is printed. We ask that you bear with us until some of this wild fluctuation has subsided and until the market has become more stable. We do, however, invite your inquiries both as to buying or selling Uncirculated Rolls, Bags, Proof Sets, and any Uncirculated single or roll sets.

All rolls and bags shipped from Tulsa Store—Postage and Express Extra.

JUST ONE MAN'S OPINION

The Carson City Dollars are the most underpriced series of all coins minted.
All one has to do is check the number minted of each year and you will see that there will never be enough to supply our five (5) million or more (est.) collectors.
Take the 1885 with only 228,000 minted. This would be one for about every twenty-one collectors.
Second comes the 1881 with only 296,000 and so on.
I have a few sets of the 1880 through 1885 complete in Strictly Brilliant Uncirculated.

For set of six (6) $27.95

Below are my prices for single coins . . . all Brilliant Uncirculated.

1878 CC	4.75	1881 CC	6.50	1883 CC	4.75	1885 CC	6.50
1880 CC	7.50	1882 CC	4.75	1884 CC	4.75	1891 CC	5.50

My second offering for this month is, in my opinion, a small set with a future. The War Time Silver Nickel consisting of 11 coins minted 1942 to 1945. (See Red Book.) This set in Brilliant Uncirculated is beautiful and also underpriced in this booming coin market.

My price for the complete set is..... $9.95 Only until present stock is sold.

The 1943-D is of course in this set and this is one that I compare in value to the 1942-D which is selling today for 6.50 each.
